BIG THROUGHS VISIT R-100 AT FIELD NEAR MONTREAL

12,000,000, Acres Of Rail Lands Are Handed Over to B.C.

Province To-day Takes Actual Control of Vast Acreage, Including Rich Peace River Block, Following Bass Agreement Made at Ottawa Last Winter and Ratified by Parliaments of British Columbia, Canada and Britain; Development Programme Planned by Province for Newly-acquired Areas.

Twelve million acres of railway belt lands, including the richly endowed Peace River block, to-day officially passed into the hands of the British Columbia government.

To-day's transfer of ownership and control marks the completion of the negotiations for the transfer of the lands from the Dominion government to the Province, dating back to the days of the late Premier John Oliver and carried on by his successors, Premier MacLean and Premier Tolmie.

BASS NEGOTIATES DEAL

Actual details for the transfer were negotiated at Ottawa by Oscar Bass, K.C., deputy attorney-general of British Columbia in a series of meetings last winter with Premier MacKenzie King, Hon. Charles Stewart, and Hon. Ernest Lapointe.

The agreement between the two governments was put through in the names of Mr. Stewart and Mr. Lapointe, for the Dominion government, and Premier Tolmie and Hon. F. P. Burden for the British Columbia government.

RATIFIED BY THREE PARLIAMENTS

Legislation making possible the transfer and ratifying it was passed by the British Columbia government at the last session of the legislature, by the Dominion government at the last session of the House of Commons, and then ratified within the last month by a bill passed by the British parliament.

DOMINION KEEPS PARKS

In the railway lands transferred to-day are the following national parks, Mount Revelstoke, Glacier National, Yoho National, and Kootenay National. These parks and their administration will be retained by the Dominion government.

HARBORS RETAINED

The Dominion will also keep its present harbors and also the shorelands and beds of the Fraser and Pitt Rivers lying above the eastern boundaries of New Westminster harbor and below lines to be defined by agreement at the junction of Kanaka Creek with the Fraser River, and at the point of the exit of the Pitt River from Pitt Lake.

HISTORIC SITES PRESERVED

All Indian reserves remain with the Dominion, but will revert to the Province when they cease to be used. The Dominion will also keep all lands on which it has extended loans to war veterans under the Soldier Settlement Act.

Under the agreement, now accepted and approved by all parties, the Province agrees not to dispose of any historic site which the Dominion wishes preserved and will preserve all bird sanctuaries, establishing additional sanctuaries on agreement between the two governments.

Officials of the various provincial departments concerned with the administration of the lands and their resources are preparing plans for the opening and development of the areas and their resources under a British Columbia expansion programme.

AUTO BRAKES IN CITY GOOD

Police Testing Shows Few Cars Here Poorly Equipped

Brake testing by the Victoria Police Department during the last two weeks has shown automobiles in this city are in good shape as far as braking facilities are concerned, Chief of Police John Fry said this morning.

Since the acquisition of a new and simplified testing machine, tests have been carried out in different parts of the city daily. An average of about fifty cars per day have been put through their paces and warnings to have brakes adjusted have been necessary in only three or four cases a day. One prosecution has been made and the offender, driving a truck without brakes, was fined.

The new device for testing offers the least trouble to the driver of the tested car. The machine is clamped on, a card inserted and the driver is told miles per hour. A pin in the testing machine punches the card to show whether the brakes are defective, satisfactory or excellent.

POTATO PRICES

New Westminster, Aug. 1.—Potato prices were reduced to a range of from $1.25 to $1.50 a sack at the weekly market here to-day. Price on a tonnage basis held at $18 to $22.

PLUMBERS BACK DOWN ON BY-LAW

Local Union of Journeymen Withdraw Support For Proposed Measure

Will Not Help Move For Provincial Plumbing Code, City Is Told

Journeymen plumbers, who at first threw their support vigorously behind the proposed new plumbing by-law for Victoria, have now withdrawn their backing. It was learned this morning.

The plumbing by-law, which has been a contentious matter since it was first introduced, is due to come before the City Council next Monday evening, having been given a two weeks' hold at the last council session. It is pointed out that the body of which the union of plumbers and steamfitters have taken the attitude now that the proposed by-law would not fill their needs. Previously they had gone on record in favor of the measure.

TO GO TO COUNCIL

A letter from the union will go before the Council Monday night, explaining the stand taken by the body. It is pointed out that in the first instance, the union expected the passing of the by-law would lead to the institution of a provincial plumbing code, for which the union has fought for several years.

After considering the situation it has been decided by the union that the passing of the by-law here would not affect the provincial situation and for that reason the support of the plumbers is withdrawn.

Moreover, the plumbers maintain that the existing plumbing by-law is better than the one operating in Vancouver, from which the new Victoria regulation was drawn.

VICTORIA'S BEST

It is set out in the letter that if plans for plumbing work for a house in Victoria were submitted with plans for Vancouver plumbing, to the most competent plumbing authorities in the Dominion, the Victoria plans would be considered the best.

In withdrawing their support the plumbers state it is not done out of selfishness but from the point of view of public interest. In addition no reflection is made upon the ability of the men named to bring in the by-law.

LUXTON FIRE NOW MASTERED

Provincial Forestry Officials Report Danger to Settlement Past

The bush fire at Luxton was this afternoon declared by Forestry Department officials to be completely under control. Nearly 500 acres were burned over in the course of the three outbreaks, the damage having been traced to a cigarette butt thrown into grass at the side of the Sooke Road.

Forestry officials have requested the co-operation of the public to prevent forest outbreaks. Until rain falls the fire hazard in the woods continues unabated.

Vancouver, Aug. 1.—With the exception of a small fire, believed by forestry officials to be of incendiary origin, on Reade Island, near Soymour Narrows, no new outbreaks are reported in the Vancouver forestry district, which includes Vancouver Island.

Fire fighters have succeeded in holding in check all existing outbreaks.

Provinces Suffer No Loss On Grain Pledge

Wheat Pool Closes Without Calling on Guarantee of Three Prairie Governments

Toronto, Aug. 1.—A special dispatch to The Toronto Mail and Empire from Ottawa says:

"From no less a person than the chief statistician of the Canadian Wheat Pool's selling headquarters in Winnipeg, government authorities in Ottawa have received the cheering information the prairie provinces have incurred no loss from their guarantee of the Wheat Pool's operations."

"Early in the year, when it became apparent Canada was not going to be able to market her whole crop and that the market prices had suffered a severe slump, the three prairie governments put their credit behind the Wheat Pool to the extent of guaranteeing the banks against loss through the advances made to the pool."

"According to information supplied to the Federal Government, there has been no loss. The Pool's crop year ended July 15. Everything transacted from July 15 onward is part of the 1930 pool. Completion of the final returns of the 1929 pool is underway and has progressed far enough to reveal the Pool sold enough wheat above the dollar price at least to compensate for the quantity which had to be sold below that mark—leaving the provincial guarantees uncalled."

"Andrew Cairns, statistician of the Pool, was in Ottawa several days ago securing passports and making preparations for a trip to Russia. He has now departed for that country for the purpose of surveying at first hand the state of wheat growing in the land of the Soviets and determining to what extent Russia is looming as a serious factor in European export wheat supply."

Mr. Cairns informed the Government of the situation in regard to the guarantees which, he said, would now expire."

DUNNING, IN OTTAWA NOW, DENIES RUMOR

Not His Intention to Return to Saskatchewan as Provincial Liberal Leader

Tells Reporters His Plans Are Not Yet Formed; Attends Cabinet Meeting

Ottawa, Aug. 1.—There is no foundation for the rumor that Hon. Charles A. Dunning, Minister of Finance, will return to Saskatchewan as leader of the provincial Liberal party. Mr. Dunning, who was at his office in the East Block of the Parliament Buildings this morning, definitely said he had no intention of going back into the provincial field.

The Minister of Finance, who introduced in Parliament the famous May Day budget which was later to become one of the major election issues, looked well and appeared cheerful when he met a few newspapermen on his return from the prairies.

"Naturally," he said, "I would rather have won than lost." However, he added, "when one engaged in politics over a period of years he acquires a philosophical outlook with respect to election results. It was the ninth election in which he had participated, Mr. Dunning said, and the first time he had suffered personal defeat."

PLANS NOT YET MADE
The Minister was asked if he thought some arrangement would be made which would permit him to remain in Parliament.

"I have no plans of any kind as yet," he replied. He had not given much consideration to the future, he said. With regard to the campaign, Mr. Dunning said he had found it very interesting and he had "met with a great deal of kindness."

A new leader of the Saskatchewan Liberal party is expected to be selected at a rally at Regina late in the fall. J. G. Gardiner, ex-premier of Saskatchewan and present chief of the party, some time ago intimated such a convention would be held.

PARLIAMENT OF BRITAIN ENDS SESSION

King Reads Speech; Members Expected to Meet Again in October

MacDonald Ministry Safely in Power For Couple of Months

Canadian Press
London, Aug. 1.—The British parliament was prorogued to-day, King George reading a speech in which he requisited the success and difficulties of the long session.

With the proroguing of parliament, which probably will resume its session next October, the MacDonald government is safely in power for the summer. The French and German parliamentary bodies also have been adjourned for the summer.

"My relations with foreign powers continue to be friendly," the King said, expressing his satisfaction with Premier MacDonald's visit to Canada and the United States; the London Naval conference and the Hague conference, the financial progress of Europe, the evacuation of the Rhineland and the mission to South America.

Voicing the thoughts of his ministers, he expressed grave anxiety over the high level of unemployment in Great Britain during the last year and indicated his disappointment at the failure of an Anglo-Egyptian settlement.

His Majesty looks forward to the forthcoming Imperial Conference for the promotion of mutual understanding and co-operation with the Empire.

INDIA CONFERENCE
He devoted special attention to the scheduled India round table conference, saying: "I earnestly pray the feeling of mutual trust and friendship may unite all races and creeds in India and the representatives of both countries in their discharge of the responsibilities the conference will impose on them. I am confident the single purpose of promoting the welfare of my Indian people will be the inspiration of every member of the conference."

NAVAL TREATY
With regard to the London Naval Conference, the King said:

"In January I afforded me great pleasure to open at Westminster an international conference for the limitation and reduction of naval armaments."

ELEVEN BOYS ARE RESCUED FROM LAKE

Lads Saved After Clinging Four Hours to Capsized Row-boat in Quebec Lake

Ottawa, Aug. 1.—After clinging to their overturned six-oared row-boat for four hours, eleven boys were rescued from Lake Deschenes, near Aymer, Que., early this morning.

When the craft capsized about 9 o'clock last night the boys clung to it, but their cries for help were not heard until after midnight, when Bert O'Connor and Fred Faucher of the Aymer Yacht Club put out in an outboard motorboat and picked them up.

Brought to the yacht club, two of the boys were unconscious and all were exhausted. Stimulants revived them and although they were kept at the club for the remainder of the night, all were well enough to go to their homes this morning.

When the boys set off in their craft the water was smooth, but in a short time a squall came on and the boat was swamped. All trained swimmers, the boys tried water while they turned the rowing boat over under the direction of their leader and clasped hands over the bottom.

HEAVY STORM RIDDEN OUT BY THE R-100

With Airship Moored Near Montreal, Log Discloses Battle Last Night

While Over St. Lawrence Dirigible Driven Up From 1,500 to 4,000 Feet

By JACK HAMBLETON, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent

St. Hubert Airport, Montreal, Aug. 1.—Just one short paragraph in the official log of the giant British dirigible R-100, which landed here at 5:36 a.m. (1:36 a.m. Victoria time) to-day from Cardington, England, tells the story of a fight against the elements in the darkest hours of last night.

At 8:30 p.m. the R-100 was heading up the St. Lawrence River. She was making fairly good time. Suddenly she flew into a terrific thunderstorm. The air was in a turmoil and the huge ship, 700 feet long, was tossed for hundreds of feet in the air.

She sustained no damage from her buffeting, however, and, while considerable delay resulted, she managed to ride out the storm without any serious difficulty.

RUSSIANS NOW SEEKING U.S. PULP MARKET

Paper Makers Say Russian Convict Product Is Cheaper Than Canadian

Operators of Mills Say They Must Import or Quit Business

Washington, Aug. 1.—The statement that importation of Soviet Russian wood by United States pulp and paper companies would replace the importation of wood and pulp from Canada was made to-day during the course of a hearing on protests over the embargo on Russian wood.

Operators of paper mills testified they would have to go out of business if they were not permitted to import wood and pulp which, they said, was not obtainable in the United States in sufficient quantity.

A great deal of their raw product had been imported from Canada, they said, pointing out that the importation of Soviet wood would not be in competition with any United States industry but the lumber industry of Canada.

The Soviet product is imported at considerably less cost than the Canadian, due, it is stated, to alleged forced labor in the Soviet forests and on the docks.

Damaged British Steamer Beached

R-100 SETS DIRIGIBLE RECORD FOR WESTWARD ATLANTIC TRIP

St. Hubert Airport, Montreal, Aug. 1.—The R-100 set a record for westward dirigible crossings of the Atlantic ocean with its trip from Cardington, England, to this airport in 28 hours 31 minutes.

The R-3, built in Germany for the United States navy and later renamed the Los Angeles, crossed in October, 1924, from Friedrichshafen to Lakehurst, N.J., in 81 hours.

The German dirigible Graf Zeppelin took 111 hours 46 minutes for its first crossing from Friedrichshafen to Lakehurst in October, 1928, but made its second crossing in 65 hours flat, in 1929.

The R-34, British dirigible, crossed from Scotland to New York in 1919 in 108 hours 32 minutes.

Eastward ocean flights have been made by the dirigibles in much faster time. The Graf Zeppelin has the best record—35 hours 24 minutes from Lakehurst to Friedrichshafen in August, 1929. It crossed the Pacific in September, 1930, from Tokio to Los Angeles, in 67 hours.

TWO GERMAN FLIERS HEAD FOR ICELAND

Leave Orkneys Aboard Small Plane; Hope to Reach United States

If They Reach Greenland They Will Journey South By Canadian Coast

Kirkwall, Orkney Islands, Aug. 1.—Wolfram Hirth and Oscar Weller, German aviators, took off in their small monoplane at 9:40 a.m. British summer time (12:40 a.m. Victoria time) to-day for Iceland.

The take-off was encouraging. Weather conditions were ideal. They were expected to reach Iceland to-night.

U.S. IS THEIR GOAL
The aviators are attempting to fly from Germany to the United States in easy stages. They left Berlin July 24, going to Crocydon, England, by way of Calais.

After their arrival here they were held up by unfavorable weather. If they reach Iceland the next lap will be to Greenland. After Greenland, Labrador is expected to be their first glimpse of the new world, with a landing either at Hopetown or Indian Bay. They hope then to fly across Canada territory to the northeastern United States.

Their small plane is a single-motored craft which carries no wireless.

U.S. SECONDARY TO CANADA IN RAIL SYSTEMS

J. D. Shatford, Chairman of the Executive Council of the Railroad Owners' Association, Tells U. S. Senate That Canada Has Set Example of What Transportation Systems Should Be, in Advocacy of Through Lines.

"We are now secondary to our Canadian neighbors, who have set us an excellent example of what transportation systems ought to be," said J. D. Shatford, chairman of the executive committee of the Railroad Owners' Association, in a communication forwarded on April 2 last to the members of the U.S. Senate in support of undivided transcontinental railway systems in the United States.

Mr. Shatford is in Victoria from Washington, D.C., and has been outspoken in the advocacy of railroad and steamship systems in the United States modeled on the Canadian transcontinental systems.

"As we view the operations of the Canadian Pacific and the Canadian National, and in addition to their transcontinental railroads, a world-wide steamship service, and also a world-wide hotel service, the excellent management and the fine results produced, we wonder that we have not long since had transcontinental systems in this country," the communication to the Railroad Owners' Association to the U.S. Senate goes on to state.

In making specific reference to operation of the United States railroads in his report to the Senate, which has before it the Consolidation Bill, having for its object legislation transportation lines of the United States into fifteen or twenty systems, Mr. Shatford goes on to say: "The strategic efforts being indulged in by management will, no doubt, continue indefinitely and without material result. If we view the past as an example of what the future may bring forth, and I believe we are justified in doing so, I think we had best discontinue regional consolidations from our minds."

"I can see no actual benefit to the public if such became a fact. As matters now stand, the morale of officials, clerks and laborers is very seriously affected. If, however, we are to have a knitting of the lines, such systems should be transcontinental and from Canada to the Gulf."

PRAISES U.S. EFFICIENCY
Mr. Shatford is not in any way critical of the operation of the railways of the United States. It being the desire of the Railway Owners' Association to increase the scope of the American rail systems. On the other hand, he highly praises the efficiency of the systems as they now stand.

He goes on to say in his memorandum to the Senate: "I am convinced the proper method of procedure in the way of regional consolidations is to permit experience to dictate what would be best for the stockholders, and also for the public, by adding, from time to time, companies that could be considered essential to a more economical and efficient operation of the parent company; in fact, in the same manner in which the Pennsylvania and the New York Central have been built up. Under existing conditions I do not believe that any of us will live to see regional consolidations, to any extent, become a fact, and I do not believe that consolidations fitting the spirit of the time can be handed down by the Interstate Commerce Commission or by views emanating from a Congressional committee room."

"It is only by careful, studied and planned mergers, shaped step by step, in the light of a lifetime of experience, we can successfully solve the transportation problem, either as a whole, or as it may apply to communities pressed with such problems."

"I would respectfully urge you to give thought to the suggestions I have submitted, for if we are to have consolidations we must enlarge our vision, and knit the lines into the most useful form of transportation."

ALL FORMS OF TRANSPORT

"It is also my view that the Panama Canal Act of 1912, which prohibits our transportation systems from owning and operating ships, should be repealed, and that the transportation systems of this country should be enabled, as are the Canadian systems, to enter into all forms of transportation."

"This again, I beg leave to point out, would better contribute assistance to agriculture, as well as to industry, because of still more diversified traffic, and a continuous system from the farm and factory to the consuming markets of the world."

The executive committee of the Railroad Owners' Association is composed of J. D. Shatford, chairman; Washington, D.C.; Frederic M. Halsey, vice-chairman; R. J. Marony, Walter S. Case and Leonel Butro, New York; Arthur S. Pierce, New Jersey; H. D. Tichenor, Los Angeles, and S. G. Hopkins, secretary.

The organization represents $3,500,000,000 of the total of $6,000,000,000 of railway stock held in the United States.

LAIRD PARTY WELCOMED HERE

J. B. Munro, Deputy Minister of Agriculture and Mayor Ansoncomb Greet Visitors

Mayor Stamps Dean Laird as Guide, Philosopher and Friend of Party

Members of Dean Sinclair Laird's party from eastern Canada were welcomed to British Columbia and formal dinner held in the Empress Hotel when J. B. Munro, Deputy Minister of Agriculture and Mayor Ansoncomb voiced pleasure in meeting so distinguished a group of business men and women from the eastern part of the country. The proceedings were most informal, and the dinner was brought to a close as soon as possible so that the tourists could leave the hotel and see something of Victoria at night.

Mr. Munro welcomed the Laird party to British Columbia on behalf of the Prime Minister of the Province, who is absent from the city. He hoped every member of the party would enjoy their stay in British Columbia, and that they would ultimately return to make their home in the west. Mr. Munro told the gathering of British Columbia's natural resources and the strides that the Province is making in shipping its products to all parts of the world, particularly to countries in the Orient. Butter and eggs, apples and other varieties of fruit are being shipped through Victoria and Vancouver daily, Mr. Munro said. Mr. Munro spoke of the growth of the prairie provinces and said that in time all the products of those provinces are bound to pass through the coast cities of British Columbia on their way to world ports. Eastern people had long looked upon Victoria and Vancouver as the backdoor of Canada, but now these two ports are moving around, or rather, Mr. Munro said, the Orient is in front of them and to a great future can be predicted for both cities as well as for Prince Rupert, farther north.

MOYAR SPEAKS
Mayor Ansoncomb, in welcoming the party to the capital city, said how pleased he always was to see a group of people from his own country. Parties from the United States are coming in by hundreds, the Mayor said, and while he was always happy to see those people here, he was much more so to have people from the eastern part of the Dominion. The Mayor expounded the beauties of the city and described in brief what they would see to-day. He congratulated Dean Laird on his enterprise, in bringing a party of eastern Canadians to the west every year and described the Dean as "our guide, philosopher and friend." Such visits were of great benefit and enabled Canadians to know their country better and understand the problems and see at first hand the great industries and the wide expanse of natural beauty in other parts of the Dominion, the Mayor said.

LEAVE TO-NIGHT

The Dean Laird party, composed of seventy-five people, arrived in Victoria yesterday afternoon from Vancouver, and will leave for the mainland again this evening on the Princess Joan at midnight. Last night after the dinner the members of the party left the hotel for a walk about town. All spoke of the beauty of the inner harbor with the Parliament Buildings outlined in tiny lights, making the scene one of starlike brilliancy. Such a sight had not been equalled all across the Dominion, members of the party said on their return to the hotel. This morning the party was taken on sightseeing drives around the business and residential districts of the city, and this afternoon they are driving over the Malahat to Mill Bay, from where they will cross the Saanich Arm to Brentwood, and, before returning to Victoria, will be guests at the Butchart Gardens.

"FLYING BARREL" READY FOR TESTS

A "coast ship" is the name that has been given to this revolutionary type of plane, pictured here as it awaited its first tests at East Berlin, N.J. Its builders claim the craft will travel 300 miles an hour in the air and they expect to fly from New York to Berlin in twelve hours. Air is sucked into one end of the barrel-shaped plane by the four-blade propeller of a sixty-horsepower motor, and expelled at the other end. Once aloft, the craft will depend on a set of stub-alirons on the forward end and will be steered by elevators in the tail. Note the enclosed cockpit. The craft has been made to come down on either land or water, and because of its small wingspread, it can be stored in an ordinary garage or taxed along a highway.

Success of Powell River-Campbell River Link Leads to Expansion

Specialty Equipped Vessel Takes Experts on Tests Trip to Coastal Points

Extensive and costly experiments and tests to ascertain the feasibility of extending radio-telephone service to many points on the coast of British Columbia will be made by the British Columbia Telephone Company, as a result of the success of the radio telephone link between Campbell River and Powell River.

George H. Halse, chairman of the board of directors of the company, who has had personal direction of the new radio telephone service, has announced that the launch Belmont has been specially equipped with receivers and transmitters and will leave this week for coastal points as far north as Prince Rupert. Engineers will keep a log of the results attained and the conditions met with.

Mr. Halse was confident that great success would attend the survey, which is to be conducted in collaboration with the Northern Electric Company, manufacturers of telephone equipment. He intimated that, should the reports favor installation of radio links with isolated coastal points, work would be commenced without delay.

"Having been encouraged by the experiment of radio telephone communication between Powell River and Campbell River during the past two months, we have decided to proceed with the radio principle of reliable conversation and we are going ahead as rapidly as we can," he said.

"Radio is particularly suited to our coast because of the locations of large industries where it is impossible to establish a system of physical circuits, and I doubt if it is possible, other than by radio, to give these industries and isolated places a dependable means of carrying on conversation with the centres of population."

Vancouver City Council Oppose Jobs for Wives

Vancouver, Aug. 1.—By a vote of six to four, the city council yesterday morning went on record as being opposed to employment of married women whose husbands "are earning salaries in the employ of the city council, are sufficient to support their families."

Aldermen who favored the resolution were W. C. Atherton and H. J. de Graves, mover and seconder, respectively. R. N. Fraser, Warner Loat, P. O. Gibbons and Richard Wilson. Those opposed were Aldermen John Bennett, Angus MacInnis, E. W. Dean and G. C. Miller.

Alderman W. H. Lemke, acting mayor, was in the chair and could not vote, although he expressed himself against the resolution. Alderman J. J. McRae was absent.

Whether the resolution will apply to married women in the employ of the city at present, was not quite cleared up, although it was stated, in reply to a query by Alderman Bennett, that the motion was not "retrospective."

After the meeting, several aldermen declared that beyond dealing with the City Hall staff, the council's resolution did not mean anything, except an academic expression of opinion.

DIRIGIBLE TRIP DESCRIBED OVER RADIO NETWORK

C.P.R. Stations Combine to Give Canada Story of R-100 From Quebec to Montreal

Montreal, Aug. 1.—The voyage of the British dirigible R-100 between Quebec and its destination at the St. Hubert airport was broadcast last night over a network of stations from coast to coast by the transmission system of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company's telegraph.

Commencing with a general resume of the day's activities, the broadcast gave the official details of the progress of the ship. At 8 p.m. the preliminary official broadcast from the mooring mast was put on the network, and continued till shortly before 9 p.m.

At 10 p.m. the network transferred to Montreal, where Charles Jennings announced the latest aerial information.

Half an hour later further announcements on the ship's progress were given from Montreal.

From 11:30 till 12:08 the official broadcast from the mooring mast at St. Hubert was carried.

ROBOT RAILWAY RUNS WITHOUT MEN AT CEMENT PLANT

Dallas, Texas, August 1.—Railway cars without passengers and apparently running without human agency, will transfer cement rock from the excavating pit to the crusher on a railway haulage system to be built by the Trinity Portland Cement Company here.

A novel system of remote control will govern the operations of the cars.

Cement rock, from which the cement is made, is excavated at some distance from the crusher at this plant. An inexpensive method of haulage was needed, and General Electric engineers were called upon to solve the problem.

The "ridersless larry car" system, previously applied by that company to an other installation, was adapted for the purpose.

Two operators, located where they can view the loading and unloading of the cars and their movements, are enabled by this system to govern practically all the operations of the cars. The track on which the cars will run will be divided into a number of sections. Four motor-driven cars will operate over the track, each propelled by two fifty-horse-power, squirrel-cage motors.

Energy for driving the motors will be collected from the track and an extra rail system. Switches in front of the centrally located operator will control the delivery of energy to each section of track.

Thus by energizing all the sections of the track the cars will run from one end to the other.

The cars will be stopped by interrupting the electric current to the section on which the cars are travelling. Electric solenoid brakes, operating automatically when the current is turned on or off, will stop the car when the supply is interrupted.

The direction of travel of the cars on any section can be changed as simply as the current can be turned on or off merely by throwing a switch.

Another interesting feature of the installation will be the conservation of power made possible by the use of the squirrel-cage induction motor. An inherent characteristic of such motors is that they will tend to maintain constant speed under all circumstances. On down grades gravity will not speed the cars up, but will be automatically converted into electricity, for the motors will then act as generators. The electricity thus generated will be fed back into the power system, helping to operate other cars on other sections of track.

Oriental Are Opposing Potato Control in B.C.

Vancouver, Aug. 1.—Potato control continues to give the interior committee of direction much worry.

While the operations of the control movement are working out fairly well in the interior, there is organized opposition on the lower mainland, almost entirely by Orientals, who have frankly stated their intention of defying the marketing board and in course of time securing a monopoly of the potato business in and around Vancouver. It is understood a large fund has been subscribed by the Orientals to fight the committee, and that a Chinese association is standing behind the rebels who are openly defying the law.

WIFE JAILS AUTHOR

H. M. Van Loan, noted author and playwright is shown here in the denim uniform of a Los Angeles county jail prisoner after his arrest on a fugitive warrant charging child abandonment in New York. Van Loan declares his arrest is "spite work" by his estranged wife, the former Gertrude Cameron, actress.

HARVESTER RATES FROM B.C. WILL START AUGUST 15

Applicants Must Be Previous Workers Who Have Definite Offers of Employment

Vancouver, Aug. 1.—Harvester rates on the railroads will be available from August 15 for men who have previously worked on prairie farms and have letters from farmers offering them employment. J. H. McVety, Superintendent of Employment Service for B.C. states. Mr. McVety corrected a statement in an earlier report to the effect that the rates would be available immediately.

First to receive the privileged rates would be men previously employed on the prairies and holding letters from farmers, the Superintendent of Employment Service said; and others would be dealt with in accordance to the orders received.

Chief James Smith, Walkerville, Ont., was named president of the association.

Other officers elected were: First vice-president, A. A. C. Shute, Edmonton; second vice-president, Chief A. Dubeau, Verdun, Que., and secretary-treasurer, Chris Newberry, Winnipeg.

TWO HELD WHILE ONTARIO DEATH INVESTIGATED

Sarnia, Ont., Aug. 1.—Investigating the mysterious death of Edward Richardson, seventy-three, police yesterday arrested his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Mary Richardson, twenty-nine, and took her into custody on a nominal charge Alex Butters, forty, former resident of Erie, Pa. Officials are also considering exhumation of the body of Constable Clarence Richardson, husband of the arrested woman, who died in May of 1929.

The elder Mrs. Richardson died from a stroke, according to a government analyst's report. At the time of her death it was believed she was suffering from heart disease. Arrest of the accused woman followed investigations by Dr. W. B. Carruthers, who attended the aged woman as she lay ill.

Butters was detained, police said, for questioning in their efforts to trace the source of the strychnine which caused the death of the aged woman.

POPULATION OF THE DOMINION IS ESTIMATED

Ottawa, Aug. 1.—Canada's population on June 1 is estimated at 9,934,800 by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. This represents an increase of 137,700 over the 1929 estimate.

POLAND RAISES TARIFF LEVELS

Warsaw, Poland, Aug. 1.—Tariff increases, some of which affect the United States, are published in the official gazette, having been approved by the Cabinet. They went into effect today.

The increased customs, it is said, are designed to protect agriculture. The tariff on wheat is raised from eleven shillings to twelve shillings and sixpence, a hundred kilograms to 17 1/2.

This increase will not affect American import orders very much, but increases on lard and bacon are considered important for United States dealers. The customs rates on lard are raised 100 per cent.

ADD TO STORAGE SPACE AT VERNON

Vernon, Aug. 1.—The Vernon Fruit Union is finishing installation of a third cold storage here, the greatest in the valley. New sorting machines have also been installed. This installation completed the transformation which has been going on for three years in the operations of the union.

Decentralization now in effect makes for large packing operations near the orchards. The central house, while still a large packing centre, is used in addition for clearing and storage.

ALBERTA EVENT

An agreement providing for the formal transfer of the resources two months hence was reached between the territorial and federal governments and signed in their behalf by Premier Brownlee and Hon. Charles Stewart, respectively.

U.S. Government Starts Big Suit Against Railroad

Spokane, Aug. 1.—The Federal Government yesterday filed against the Northern Pacific Railroad a suit expected to involve at least $10,000,000. The suit is for the removal of certain indemnity lands from the operation of Federal Land Grant Act of 1884, as modified in 1870, to quit title to those lands, to secure an accounting, and "for other purposes."

The suit was authorized by act of Congress on June 25, 1929, and was filed yesterday in Federal court here.

The amount involved is stated as "in excess of $100,000," but the value of the lands involved and taxes thereon, it is believed by attorneys here, may even run the amount involved as high as $50,000,000.

He referred to Winnipeg as the continental traffic centre of the route.

SUGAR DUTY INCREASED

The Hague, Aug. 1.—The first chamber yesterday voted twenty-four to seventeen on a bill for an import duty of 2.4 florins or about $1 per 200 kilograms on refined sugar.

The duty was imposed as a compensation to Dutch sugar manufacturers for expenses imposed upon them under sugar excise laws.

U.S. FARM BOARD BLAMED FOR LOW PRICE OF WHEAT

Saskatoon, Sask., Aug. 1.—The United States farm board, because it has artificially manipulated the market, is to blame for present low wheat prices.

This is the opinion of Dr. W. W. Swanson, head of the Department of Economics of the University of Saskatchewan, chairman of the Royal Saskatchewan Commission on Immigration and Settlement and author of a book entitled "Wheat."

Dr. Swanson, however, has hopes the market situation will improve.

GOLDEN WEDDING IS CELEBRATED AT GORDON HEAD

Many Gather to Congratulate Col. J. Scroggie and Mrs. Scroggie on Anniversary

The Golden wedding of Lt. Col. J. Scroggie, secretary of the Pacific Club, was celebrated on Monday and the gathering of numerous relatives and friends took place at his residence, "Edgewater," Gordon Head on that date. It was most fortunate that all the broken family gathered to do honor to the Colonel and his wife on that auspicious occasion, his granddaughter, Margery Scroggie played the Wedding March to the admiration of the large gathering and his eldest granddaughter, Margaret Rose Taylor unfurled the Canadian flag in honor of the day on the flagstaff on the home grounds at Gordon Head.

Representatives of Pacific Club including the president, L. Marks and the vice-president, W. Cuthbert with their wives and many of the prominent members and their wives were among the large gathering which met to do honor to the occasion.

The family included Mr. James M. Scroggie, the only son with his wife and four children from Albany, Oregon, the daughter, Mrs. Alex Taylor with her husband Alex Taylor, C.E., and their two children from Vancouver.

A cable from the Colonel's only remaining aunt from Edinburgh, Scotland together with telegrams from numerous relatives in Eastern Canada added joy to the occasion and a host of congratulatory "90th Anniversary" cards from many friends as well as telegrams were received and formed part of a general rejoicing.

The house and grounds were suitably illuminated and the large main room of the splendid residence was banked with beautiful flowers contributed by friends and associations with which the Colonel and his wife were intimately connected.

St. Andrew's Church Women's Guild provided a beautiful offering of flowers in addition to many supplied by other friends and the Rev. H. P. S. Lattrell and Mrs. Lattrell lent their presence and aid to add cheer and pleasure to a very enjoyable occasion. The "young" couple are still going strong.

Crack Thoroughbreds Will Race At Colwood Track Next Week

THE SPORTS MIRROR

Mile Oval Ready For Opening of Season On Island

It is evident that William Woodward reads more than just the racing news on the sports pages. He has announced that Gallant Fox, his study thoroughbred will go to England in search of prize, immediately following the U.S. three-year-old champion's campaign on this continent.

Woodward must have noted in the sports pages that U.S. athletes have been capturing British honors right and left this year. The double triumph of Bobby Jones in golf and the tennis victories of Bill Tilden, Wilmer Allison, John Van Ryn and Mrs. Helen Wills Moody have convinced Gallant Fox's owner that the time to strike is while the iron is hot.

And so the son of Sir Galahad III-Marguerite who has won 35 consecutive stakes since this season, will be led aboard an ocean liner and shipped to England, immediately following the running of the Jockey Club Golf Cup race at Belmont Park.

Woodward's decision to ship the U.S. champion to foreign tracks was not reached until after he had given it considerable thought. The success he has known abroad with his extensive string of thoroughbreds during the last few years was a determining factor.

The Fox will be given several weeks to become fully acclimated and familiar to running on soil. His trainer's instructions will be to get him into perfect condition and then race him in as many stakes as he may prove eligible to start in.

Gallant Fox will have a good chance to win on British soil as he has won in the United States. He has the speed and if he is allowed to become accustomed to English racing conditions he should succeed. "Rough Count" the U.S. three-year-old champion in 1928, made an extensive tour of England and enriched his owners, Mr. and Mrs. John Herts of Chicago, several thousand dollars. Lord Derby, who watched Gallant Fox race to an easy victory in the Kentucky Derby, declared he could step in the fastest company with success.

However, it must be remembered that Papyrus, an English Derby winner, was shipped to the United States in 1923 for a special race against Zen, one of the greatest horses ever bred in the United States, and owned by the Rancocas Stable. It was a match held at Belmont Park, N.Y., for a purse of $100,000. The distance was one and a half miles. Zen, with Earl Sande up, won easily the English horse making a brilliant showing. The next year the French shipped Epineuil, a great champion three-year-old to the United States. He ran three races and failed to win. Epineuil was beaten by Wise Counselor, Ladwin and Saracen. The French horse finished second in each race.

Gallant Fox is a great horse but he will have to be given plenty of time to get used to English racing conditions or he will be taking the dust from some of England's great thoroughbreds. Conditions in England and the United States are vastly different and then again the trip across the Atlantic is not likely to do him any good, especially if it happens to be a rough passage.

After Brooklyn, Pa., admirers of Bob Shawky, manager of the New York Yankees, had given him a floral home-shoe recently, Umpire Bill McGowan gave him the gate. McGowan is Irish, not Scotch.

Three straight defeats by the Washington Senators at the hands of the St. Louis team recently, would indicate that Owner Phil Hall and his Browns resent the remarks many have made regarding the "Goin' for Crowder and Manush" trade.

If the early bird catches the worm, what can those Chicago Cubs expect to find after the Brooklyn Robins have been on the spot so long, questions that well-known writer, Joe O'Grady.

Primo Camera must run home and brush up on his manual of arms. Or will it be the Emmanuel of arms?

King Tut knocked out another opponent in St. Paul the other night. These rumors have a way of petrifying anything they come in contact with.

"What happened after your approach shot rolled up on the green?" the pro inquired. "It trickled off into the sand." O'Grady winked.

In five recent games the Chicago White Sox left 61 runners stranded on the bases. One might say that that is ruthless baseball.

Tailenders in Garage Baseball Continue Winning Streak By 18 to 11 Win

Lack of Congestion and Prospects For Foreign Buying Favorable This Season

Beggs continues to provide the fireworks in the Garage League ball these days. Yesterday evening the surprising tail enders continued their winning streak by scoring an 18 to 11 victory over the second-place Buicks at the Royal Athletic Park. Six innings of out and out slugging saw each team score at least once in each stanza, but the winners practically clinched the decision with an eight run rally in the second inning. Hughes added to the festivities in this inning with a home run, which drove in two runs.

The score by innings:

Bellingham, Wash., Aug. 1.—The eighteen-hole quarter and semi-finals were on the programme today of the Washington amateur golf tournament, with six Seattle players, including the defending champion Alec Duncan, one Port Townsend and one Bellingham, battling for a place in to-morrow's finals.

At Colwood several changes have been effected in clubhouse arrangements, grandstand and betting ring. The grandstand has been equipped with concrete steps and the entire frontage altered with pleasing effect. While public accommodations have been improved, horsemen have also come in for consideration. Changes have been made in paddock and stabling facilities. Taken all round it is a vastly improved racing plant that will greatly please the race followers next Wednesday.

It is understood the official family now conducting racing on the mainland will be in charge of operations at both Colwood and the Willows.

London, Ont., Aug. 1.—One hundred and four golfers from Canada and the United States will begin teeing off at 1 o'clock on Monday in the Canadian amateur golf tournament being played over the course at the London Hunt and Country Club. Entries were announced yesterday.

Twenty-seven of the United States' best amateur players are invading Canada for the play. Eddie Held of New York is the defending champion who wrested the crown from a classy field in Jasper Park, Alberta, last year and will be back again.

There will be usual strong Toronto and Montreal contingents, and also some of Western Canada's best. B. Belford and T. Russell are coming from Moose Jaw and F. Morse and J. Marsh from Saskatoon, while Winnipeg is sending—besides that veteran golfer, Alex Weir—Dan Kennedy, Ernie Palmer and D. L. Arnett.

Mac Smith Shoots Two Record Rounds To Win N.Y. Title

New York, Aug. 1.—Two record-breaking rounds have enabled Donald Smith, veteran Scot, to win the Long Island open golf championship for the second straight year.

Until yesterday 70 had never been broken at the Engineers' Country Club, one of the toughest courses in the metropolitan district, but Smith, at the top of his game, shot a 68 in his morning round and another 68 in the afternoon to hang up a 72 hole total of 136 and win the championship by the decisive margin of eight strokes. Willie Klein of Wheatley Hills was second with 286 and Gen Sarazen third, another stroke behind.

Smith's cards for the two last rounds of the championship showed only three fives.

He had nine threes and a two. All the others were fours.

SOFTBALL

Jokers, champions of the Westholme Softball League, added further honors to their credit yesterday evening, when they defeated the Moore and Whittington team 11 to 9 in the finals of the Westholme knockout series.

Hustlers qualified to meet Saanich "A" in the semi-final of the Victoria and District Softball League series yesterday evening by eking out an 8 to 7 victory in a fast nine inning encounter. Saanich and Hustlers will now meet on Monday with the winner qualifying to play Millers for the title.

The teams fought on even terms for the first seven innings, at which time the score was deadlocked at 7-7. The Hustlers pushed across the winning counter in their half of the eighth and then cut off the dying rally of the Hustlers in the next inning. Jack Bawney pitched a heady game for the Hustlers.

In a Federated "B" knockout cup game at Central Park, J.B.A.A. defeated the Beavers, 16 to 9.

A meeting of the Lower Island Softball Association will be held this evening, at 8 o'clock, in the Y.M.C.A. Building. The purpose of the meeting is to set dates for the city championships. All teams are requested to have a representative in attendance.

Idle Chicago and Giants Both Gain On Leading Robins

Philadelphia Turns on National League Leaders for 12 to 7 Triumph; Brooklyn's Lead Over Chicago Is Only Two Games; Giants Now Only Five Games Behind Leaders; Pittsburgh Moves Up Into First Division; Ted Lyons and Wes Ferrell Each Win Seventeenth Game in American.

Philadelphia's National League Club, one of the most powerful arrays of sluggers in the National League, have been floundering through the season going from bad to worse as their pitchers fail to hold the rival batters in check. But yesterday against the league-leading Brooklyn Robins things were different for the Phillies came out with a 12 to 7 triumph.

To the Phillies, the victory meant only a bit of encouragement, but it was rather a serious affair for the Robins. Instead of increasing their lead over the Chicago Cubs, who again were idle along with Cincinnati, the margin was reduced to two games. Likewise the New York Giants, who seem to be threatening the leaders in a serious way, blasted out twenty hits against the Boston Braves and won 11 to 5. It placed them five games behind the leaders.

Pittsburgh Pirates did still better. With their 4 to 3 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals they finally moved out of the second division into a tie with the Cards for fourth place.

FITCHES DO WELL
In the American League Wes Ferrell, of Cleveland, and Ted Lyons of Chicago were the outstanding mound performers, each winning his seventeenth victory of the season. Ferrell had a great duel with Sorrell and Cantrell, of Detroit and finally triumphed, 5 to 3. 14 to 15, in a game packed full of hits and errors. Ted Lyons' thirty-third home run of the season with two out and one on base in the ninth inning. Lyons held the St. Louis Browns to four hits in the second game of a double header and won 12 to 9 after Garland Braxton had pitched Chicago to a 10 to 2 victory in the first.

George Barnshaw of Philadelphia, pitched another four-hit game against Washington, but he developed a streak of wildness in the ninth inning and Moose Grove had to come to his rescue to give the Athletics a 4 to 3 victory and place them eight games ahead of their nearest rivals. In Boston the New York Yankees downed the Red Sox, 4 to 1, in a game packed full of hits and errors. Lou Gehrig's thirty-third home run made with the bases full in the seventh inning, gave the Yanks the decision.

AMERICAN LEAGUE
Boston, Aug. 1.—Lou Gehrig once more blazed the way to victory for the New York Yankees yesterday as they eked out a 14 to 13 victory over the Red Sox in a poorly pitched game. Gehrig had a perfect day at bat, hitting a home run, his thirty-third of the season, and two doubles in three official times at bat. He drove in eight runs and scored three. The homer was made in the seventh inning with the bases full and scored the runs that eventually won the game.

Lyons and Coffman each allowed four hits, but the Sox bunched their hits in the third for a 1 to 0 decision. Braxton kept eight hits well spaced to win the opener, 10 to 2.

Once more it was Lou Gehrig and Chuck Klein, batting leaders of the major leagues, who set the pace for the Big Six sluggers yesterday. Gehrig had a perfect day for the three times thirty-third homer of the year and two doubles to lift his average five points to .392. Klein's mark shot up three points to .411 as the result of three hits in four times up. His rival, Frank, was officially at bat, wallowing his thirty-third homer of the year and two doubles to lift his average five points to .392. ## T. & V.'S LOSE TO ST. AIDAN'S

St. Aidan's defeated T. and V. by 30 to 31 in a low scoring Wednesday League cricket fixture at the University School, on Wednesday, and thereby improved their position in the standing. Godfrey Wenman and George Wilkinson were in rare form with the bat for the winners and took the entire ten T. and V. wickets very cheaply. Sparks and Wenman were the leading scorers with 29 and 28 respectively.

Harrison, Coughlin Gove and Prusoff Reach Semi-finals

Visiting Stars Account for Last of Victorians in Championship Tournament at Victoria Lawn Tennis Club; Coughlin Defeats Edwards, Gove Beats Schwengers and Prusoff Eliminates Rayment; Warren and Prusoff Spring Surprise Win Over Coughlin and Gove.

Two outstanding doubles matches were the highlights yesterday of the British Columbia lawn tennis championships at the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club. In the biggest upset of the week Bill Warren and Henry Prusoff of the Seattle Tennis Club defeated Joe Coughlin of San Francisco and Frank Gove of Los Angeles. In the other match Mrs. Golda Myer Gross and Charlotte Miller barely nosed out Mrs. John Edwards and Mona Miller in a sensational three-set battle.

Other important victories were Joe Coughlin's win over John Edwards, Frank Gove's defeat of Bob Schwengers and the win of Henry Prusoff over Hugo Rayment. The last three local men in the singles thus passed out of the running. Harrison and Hoogs defeated Don Lewis and Bob Johnson of Portland in straight sets to reach the finals of the men's doubles. They now meet the winner of the McCallum-Gordon-Warren-Prusoff match, which is set for to-day.

The match in which Warren and Prusoff defeated Coughlin and Gove was of a sensational nature. The Seattle pair established an early lead, but Prusoff had a momentary streak of wildness and the southern pair had no trouble in tying the score. Warren played steady tennis throughout the match. The first set finally went to Gove and Coughlin at 7-5, but the fireworks did not really commence until the second set got under way.

PRUSOFF BRILLIANT

Right from the very first shot the Seattle pair went after the Californians and Prusoff literally blew them off the courts. Warren took good care of any shots that came his way and when a shot came to Prusoff there was just a crack of the meeting of the ball on the strings of the racquet and the point was finished with one shot. As after six rallies off his racquet and his service was brilliant.

The Californians tried to keep the ball from the dynamic Prusoff, but Warren was steady and he kept the ball in play until a shot came to his partner, who ended the rally. The second set was won by the Seattle pair at 6-3. Both teams fought for the third set, but the Seattle players were full of confidence and hit tremendously hard, while the losers played more carefully and waited for the breaks which did not come. After some good play and sensational work by Prusoff, the match ended at 7-5. The complete scores were 5-7, 6-3, 7-5.

LOCALS FIGHT HARD

Many spectators stayed behind to watch the last scheduled match of the day which brought the Western Canada champions, Mrs. Gross and Miss Miller, against Mrs. Edwards and Mona Miller. Great excitement reigned when the local pair took the first set at 10-8 after a long struggle. It was a baseline duel between Mrs. Gross and Mrs. Edwards with both the Miss Millers posted at the net to take care of the net shots of which there were very few. A few rallies forced Charlotte Miller back to the baseline with Mrs. Gross, but for the most part she was well up near the net. Mrs. Edwards with great patience kept the ball going back and forth until her partner was able to get hold of a crumpled shot. After dropping the first set at 10-8, the Californians who have not yet lost on the northwest circuit, settled down to steady tennis and Charlotte Miller's shots reached the side and baselines with regularity, and they took the second set without much trouble. The score was 6-2. The third set found the locals fighting for the match, and although they went behind almost immediately they stuck to their guns and after one of the longest games of the match, the eighth game was Charlotte Miller's service and it looked hopeful for the local players. They lost the next game but again tied the count at five games all, but the winners had just enough reserve to take the next two games for the match. The scores were 8-10, 6-2, 7-5.

Joe Coughlin accounted for Victoria's last hope in the men's singles when he defeated John Edwards with the loss of two games in the first set. His performance against Edwards was identical to the same as against Hocking the previous day. He hit the side lines with hard drives that Edwards could not reach, while his ability to get back hard shots to his backhand, his supposed weakness, kept him out of danger. Many games went to deuce, but the Stanford player always had the upper hand. Prusoff accounted for Rayment in an earlier match, while Frank Gove took Bob Schwengers into camp at the same time. The latter player, who on Tuesday eliminated Ryall of Vancouver, displayed a strong game, better than at any time this year, but he could not play Gove's short shots which brought Schwengers in from the back line in full flight on nearly every rally. Prusoff did not have much trouble with Rayment's short service as he was content to wait for it and then use a chop which the local player could not reach.

DECISIVE VICTORIES

In the men's doubles for the most part, the victories were quite decisive. McCallum and Gordon defeated Edwards and Hocking in free hitting contest in which the city champions were a little the steadier. The losers did well in the first set and kept the scores fairly well even for the first eight games. Hocking missed a series of smashes in the ninth game on Edwards' service for the first break of the set, and McCallum won his service for the last game in the first set. The second set found the winners' edge more pronounced and they lost but two more games and they lost but two more games. Harrison and Hoogs found Johnson and Lewis easier than in Vancouver and they won in straight sets. The brilliant youngsters were a little off and the University of Oregon players did not let up.

GENRIG HITS NO. 33

Boston, July 31.—Lou Genrig hit his thirty-third home run of the season for the Yanks to-day with the bases full in the seventh inning against the Red Sox. Eddie Durham was the victim. Lou's clout gave the Yanks a 4 to 0 lead, and placed him, only three homers behind Babe Ruth.

M. E. CLEVELAND ENTHUSIASTIC OVER RHODESIA

Former Victorian Describes Mining and Industrial Development There

Africa as the Dark Continent of the story books is rapidly becoming a thing of the past. Improved means of communications, the motor car, airplane and other transportation facilities, with industrial activity under many headings are working a remarkable transformation in that great continent, which is destined to have a vast influence upon human progress within the next few years.

This new African era was emphasized to a Times representative by M. E. Cleveland, formerly a well-known contractor of this city who went to South Africa some thirty-five years ago, and who now resides in Salisbury, the capital of Southern Rhodesia. Mr. Cleveland, who is making one of his periodic visits to relations in British Columbia, is confident that South Africa is the scene of heavy investment of fresh capital in many directions before long.

"Southern Rhodesia," Mr. Cleveland said, "is on the eve of tremendous expansion of the mining industry. Near the Belgian Congo boundary are enormous bodies of copper which are being mined by great companies holding concessions distributed over 160,000 square miles. One company's estimate of the value of copper in sight in its concession is $700,000,000."

"Rhodesia has long been known as the principal producer of the world's supply of chrome," Mr. Cleveland added, "it shares with Canada the distinction of being the chief producer of asbestos. Its gold production amounts to $25,000,000 a year, but the indications are that its production of copper will surpass all of these. Consider the mining prospect of Rhodesia in conjunction with the annual gold production of the Rand in the Transvaal, which amounts to $250,000,000 a year, and you will realize something of the tremendous value of the mineral resources in South Africa."

Mr. Cleveland pointed out that in Belgian Congo, in the watershed between the Zambesi and the Congo, were important mineral resources, notably pitchblende, in which radium was found.

Rhodesia, Mr. Cleveland said, also has promising agricultural prospects. It was also noted for stock raising, and recently sold 50,000 head of cattle to the Italian Government. Its climatic advantages, unsurpassed in the world, and its splendid scenic assets, were making it a growing attraction to tourists, increasing numbers of people from all parts of the world, visiting the famous Victoria Falls, which were greater even than Niagara, as well as the celebrated Zimbabwe ruins, which are believed by some to have been in the region of the historic King Solomon's mines.

Rhodesia is divided into Northern and Southern Rhodesia, each of which is self-governing, and therefore is not within the Union of South Africa. They have a combined white population of 75,000 whites and 1,500,000 natives.

CITY BLOOMS ARE ON SHOW

Victoria Horticultural Society Sponsors Annual Flower Display Here

Premier Tolmie and Mayor Ansonb Open Show at Shrine Auditorium

Displaying summer flowers, which have given the city a continental reputation as a centre of floral beauty, the Victoria Horticultural Society opened its seventh annual show in the Shrine Auditorium this afternoon. At 2 o'clock Premier Tolmie and Mayor Ansonb officially opened the function with addresses from the flower bedecked platform in the exhibition hall, and paid tribute to the splendid display the society had on view.

After congratulating the society on its splendid exhibit, Premier Tolmie spoke of the value of such shows to the city and the province, and the society not only increased its reputation as a beauty spot, but encouraged the cultivation of flowers as well as fruits and vegetables here.

Mayor Ansonb added his tribute and spoke glowingly of the splendid standard of exhibits.

Fred Landberg, president of the organization, introduced the speakers and outlined the objectives of the society. The Victoria Horticultural Society aims to improve the beauty of the city and the province, and to increase the usefulness and extend the number of gardens in Victoria and district, and for that purpose held exhibitions and competitions. He said, "Lectures and demonstrations, and the dissemination of knowledge of new and improved methods of cultivation, and the use of insecticides and fungicides, are among the subjects of addresses that are being delivered by expert speakers in the convention hall at the Empress Hotel this afternoon. Research committee reports will also be heard during the day."

On arrival here today the delegates to the local plant of the Baker Brick and Tile Company and will then be taken on a motor drive through the Sanicula Peninsula to Butchart's Gardens, on Mill Bay and over the Malahat Highway to Goldstream, where a basket picnic will be held.

The quarterly meeting of the Clay Products' Co-operative Association, which was held at the Empress Hotel, was held this evening at the Empress Hotel.

Standard types, purple, gold, scarlet, light yellow and variegated shades are shown. Of particular interest were the fine celadon of Mr. McTavish, who also won high praise for his Duchess of York, Mrs. F. C. Buzen, King George, Gladie Boy, Chelille, and other beautiful pink and sulphur flower, with ruffled petals, one of the many new types on display, merited the unanimous praise of all who saw the exhibition.

Among the vases of R. M. Palmer were many blooms of his own original design, in the centre of the display with a basket of purple and white, was a fine sample of apricot glow. Winsome, a new type of flower originated at the Palmer gardens, also commanded much attention. A giant pink flower with a tongue of deep red, the bloom was among the most beautiful in the building. Albatross, orange queen, mission bells, yellow perfection, nasturtium, yellow prince, and petunia varieties were also shown to advantage in the exhibit, the delicate shades of which were among the finest in the show.

FINE DISPLAY OF ROSES

Roses were featured in the display of H. H. Reed of the Parliament Buildings, who, in addition to showing standard types of unusual beauty, displayed several fine new creations. J. O. Crawford, Earl Hall, W. F. Driscoll, Sovereign, Madame Herriot, and Los Angeles varieties were included in the exhibit, which was further enhanced with begonia, sweet peas and delicate ferns.

In a semicircular plot the Victoria Floral Company displayed giant lilies of the autumn and magnolia, along with carnations of all colors, larkspur and gladioli, as well as baskets of other fine blooms, tastefully arranged with ferns, coleus and fuchsia. District displays and home garden exhibits, featuring gladioli, sweet peas, dahlias, buddleia, carnations, and hydrangeas added greatly to the color of the spectacular show.

SPLENDID DAHLIAS

In the dahlia section blooms nearly a foot in diameter won the admiration of all who visited the auditorium. Competitive classes were also seen in the sweet pea, phlox, stocks and other sections, while the decorated tables

Representatives of English Bar Will Be Guests of American Association

Lindley Crease, K.C., will represent the Bar of British Columbia at the special meeting of the American Bar at Chicago, August 20 and 21, when 200 delegates of the British Bar will repay the visit their United States conferees made to England last year.

Each province in the Dominion will be represented by a delegate at the meeting, which will see the most notable collections of legal talent in the history of the American Bar. The Canadian representatives will be present at the London meeting and were included in the invitation made there to the English Bar.

Before attending the Chicago meeting, Mr. Crease will be present at the meeting of the Canadian Bar, August 15 and 16, as representing the benchers of British Columbia. He will be accompanied by A. D. Macfarlane, K.C., president of the Law Society of Victoria.

On his way east Mr. Crease will stop at Jasper for the annual meeting of the Canadian Alpine Club. He will leave the city tomorrow.

The party representing the English legal profession will visit the Canadian Bar Association while in session in Toronto. There will be about 200 in the visitors' party, and among them will be a number of well-known judges of the Old Land. Landing at Quebec, the party will proceed to Ottawa, where the members will be the guests of the Canadian Bar. A trip will follow to Niagara Falls, at which point the American Bar will take charge of the party from the Old Land, and the representatives of the Canadian Bar as hosts.

At the meeting of the Canadian Bar Association in Toronto, there will be representatives of the United States Bar, of the French Bar, the Bar of Japan and the Bar of Ireland.

The party from Great Britain includes some very brilliant men, such as: Rt. Hon. Viscount Dundee, Rt. Hon. Lord Tomlin, Rt. Hon. Lord Macmillan, Hon. Sir George Talbot, Hon. Sir Robert Wright, Hon. Sir P. Maugham and Hon. Sir Malcolm Macdonald.

Among the members of the King's Council are: Rt. Hon. Sir John Simon, Sir William Jowitt, Sir Frank Morrison, Sir Lynden Macgillivray and Sir John Lloyd.

There are also a number of junior bar members from England.

The members of the Scottish Bar are as follows: J. S. Leitch, K.C., and James Keith, K.C.

There is also a long list of English solicitors, including: Sir Roger Gregory, Sir James Macgillivray, Sir George Fowler and a number of others.

Among the Scottish solicitors is William Campbell Johnston of Edinburgh. From the Irish Free State are: Hon. Mr. Justice Hanna and Michael Conyn. Among those from the French Bar is M. M. Deumais and many other distinguished members.

Five special tour parties are at the Empress Hotel to-day.

The largest is the Jean Laird party, consisting of seventy-five people, from eastern Canada.

The Collier-Miller tour party of sixteen people arrived in the city this afternoon and will remain until tomorrow.

Also arriving to-day was the Gillespie-Lampart party, comprising twenty-five tourists.

On board the afternoon boat from Seattle were nine members of the German Club of Chicago, from the Windy City.

Making the fifth organized party in the city to-day, some thirty-five delegates to the northwest section of the Ceramic Society are meeting in convention here.

H. E. Goldsmith, with address at the Constitutional Club, Hongkong, is at the Empress Hotel to-day.

Mr. Goldsmith is assistant director of public works in the Hongkong administration.

He and his wife are remaining on the coast to await the sailing of the new 25,000-ton liner Empress of Japan on her maiden voyage to the Orient next month. In the meantime they are enjoying some fishing on Saanich Island.

Dr. W. F. Drysdale, chief medical practitioner in the city of Nanaimo, gained warm praise from those interested in that department.

Following the opening ceremonies to-day, little Miss Fitzsimmons, granddaughter of the president of the society, presented a bouquet of flowers to Mrs. Tolmie.

Judging was being done late this afternoon and will be completed tomorrow.

MANY PRIZES

Among the outstanding trophies up for competition were the Askey Cup, for group displays of potted plants, grown in non-commercial gardens; the Ansonb Cup, for district displays of hardy cut flowers; Joseph Rose award, for the best district display of roses, twenty-four varieties; and the W. B. Lammigan, Owl Drug Company and Hawkins & Haywood prizes for decorated tables and many other awards for different sections.

Several competitions were being held for serious cut flowers, with particular interest being shown in the rose and sweet pea sections.

Less spectacular, but equally well planned, were the competitive exhibits of fruit and vegetables in which exceptionally fine garden produce was shown.

As usual the person taking the highest points in the show will be awarded the Nichol Challenge Cup, while special prizes, donated by Fred Cousins, Gordon Head, will be given winners whose exhibits have been grown from the donor's seeds or bulbs.

TODAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(By Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)

Wheat—Aug. 1.—Wheat: While prices held firm today, fluctuations were within a range of about 1/4c, being 1/4c lower to 1/4c higher. There was not much feature to the market. The trade volume was small and largely local in character.

Liverpool early was about one cent lower than due to Winnipeg, which caused a fractionally lower opening, but on the dip to low points a little buying by seaboard houses appeared and prices advanced, but offerings again increased and the upturn was not held, prices again sinking to new lows for the day. It was more of a scalping market than anything else.

The points of the day were the sale of 1,000,000 bushels of hard red spring wheat, but overnight sales were confined to a few scattered loads. There was a good demand for practically all grades of cash wheat, while offers were still light. Spreads on number four were unchanged, but on the other grades spreads were one-half to three-quarters better than a week ago.

The private reports by American crop experts was about a standoff, showing a decrease in wheat with a corresponding increase in corn. The western Canadian wheat is estimated by those experts to be about the same as last year, while the carryover is estimated at 130,000,000 bushels.

Liverpool recovered from early weakness to close 1/4c higher, but hardly as firm as due.

The weather was clear throughout the west yesterday, with high temperatures, especially from Broadway to Moose Jaw on the main line of the C.P.R., where they averaged from 100 to 102, and appear to be about the same again today, which will be very trying on the crops in these districts, where moisture is badly needed.

Corn was again favorable, but did not hold the full upturn. A two-sided market is indicated, but we continue material upturn in buying on any material. Wheat closed 1/4c lower.

Coarse grains: While these markets were all higher again today, there were very little going on in the futures, with the cash demand limited to a little eastern Canadian business in low-grade barley. Export business is still flat and even inquiries appear to be no better.

Offerings in the pit are very light and sentiment is friendly, due to the high temperatures prevailing in the west. Oats closed 1/4c up, 1/4c up, and rye 1/4c up.

Flax: No feature, trade very small, but setting pressure very light. Closing figures are higher. Liverpool due 1/4c lower on Winnipeg.

TOBACCO STOCKS IN WALL STREET

Stock Trading in Wall Street Sags to Lowest Levels of the Year

J. I. Case and Vanadium Also Run Up With Shorts Reported Trapped

Wall Street Interested in Whether Tobacco Run-up is Another Tail-end Move

New York, Aug. 1.—At the close of the market this afternoon, the Dow Jones average of thirty industrial stocks stood at 233.57, off 0.42 points for the day; for twenty rails at 130.77, off 0.18 points; and for twenty utilities at 84.79, off 1.67 points.

Sales for the day totalled 1,087,400 shares.

Features of the quiet market session to-day was the run-up in American Tobacco, which climbed from 238 to 240 1/4, completing a run in the last several days of more than a dozen points.

Liggett & Myers moved up from 92 to 94 1/2, and Lorillard & Reynolds also gained.

Whether the run-up in the tobacco stocks presages another break in the general market remains to be seen. Old-timers in Wall Street usually run to cover when the tobacco run-up as they have traditionally been the tail-end movers in bull moves.

BEARS REPULSED

Generally speaking, as for to-day's market, stocks sagged, repulsed operations of bearish professionals. Indications liquidation was no longer overhanging the market in volume sufficient to make bearish operations profitable were strengthened.

Concerning the immediate speculative outlook was increased by the effective support which appeared Thursday above the level of reaction at 229.29 on July 21.

CORRECTION FOR NEXT MOVE

Extensive correction was accomplished by the setbacks since the start of the week. The market appeared to have gathered technical resistance for the next attempt to rise above the 240 level, where resistance had been encountered on the upside of three occasions since the current recovery began at the end of June.

The operations of this kind converged principally on the utility and electric stocks, and the announcement of reductions in electricity rates at Boston and Philadelphia, Consolidated Gas and American Power and Light experienced further recessions to new lows on the movement. Steel and American Can, Westinghouse and other pivotal issues traded around.

TRADE AT LOW LEVEL

However, attempts to extend the declines were frustrated by the definite absence of liquidation on recessions. Trading fell off to the lowest levels of the year, and persistent efforts by the bear crowd were unsuccessful in bringing out sizeable offerings.

BEARS TRAPPED IN CASE

J. J. Case stood out prominently, staging a characteristic uprush on the better tone of the grain markets yesterday, and continued a further substantial extension of its gains. Case volatility was also said to reflect the difficulties of an over-extended bear account.

Vanadium was another issue where condition bordering on a technical corner were reported.

UTILITIES FEAR RATE CUTS

Utilities have been the main spot of depression, as compared with the rest of the market, affected probably by the cut in the Boston electric rates, coupled with the prospect of a cut in the New York districts.

COPPER OUTPUT CUT

United Verde Mining Company output for June was 8,500,720 pounds of copper, compared with 4,013,790 in May and 4,094,040 in April.

Motorcar Output and Improvement

Long Island plant and offices to Toledo to consolidate them with W. G. Nagel Electric Company.

CONSUMPTION OVERTAKES PRODUCTION

The National City Bank Review states that the reason for believing that consumption in many industrial lines is overtaking production and that therefore the imbalance between supply and demand for these products is in process of correction.

AUTO ACTIVITY RESUMING

Resumption of activity in the automobile industry will take place on August 4 when the majority of the big companies will end the vacation shut-downs, according to reports which have been received from Detroit. Present advice shows that this year extended to a number of important parts and accessory makers who timed their shut-downs to correspond with those of their principal customers, according to the announcements carried on the Dow Jones news service to-day.

Scheduled to resume operations August 4 are Ford, Packard, Oakland, Pontiac, Graham-Paige, General Motors Truck Company, Timken-Detroit Axle, Motor Products Corporation and Midland Steel Products, etc.

Hudson and Cadillac-LaSalle already have completed shutdown periods, while Chrysler, Buick, Chevrolet, Studebaker, Reo and Willys-Overland did not have vacation shutdowns, although operations at times were at an exceptionally low level. Chrysler, Buick and Studebaker were engaged in preparation of new models recently introduced, while Reo's preparations for a new line are in progress. Packard, despite new model preparations, followed the vacation plan which has been in effect since 1918.

Manufacturing departments of Rupp Motor Car Corporation will be closed during the first two weeks in August, but offices and shipping departments will remain open. Olds Motor Works is scheduled to resume operations August 11 following a two-week shutdown.

There is no doubt in trade circles about Ford's reopening August 4. When Ford extended his shutdown from July 28 to August 4 all parts and accessory makers were notified several days in advance of July 28 to suspend shipment of materials another week and employees were advised of the change in effect through advertisements in the local press.

CHARGE DISMISSED

Charlie Lewis, charged in Spanish police court with willful destruction of property, was dismissed by Magistrate George Jay after a hearing yesterday afternoon.

Two cases of driving to the common danger were remanded for one week.

WHITNEY LETTER

Stock Trading in Wall Street Sags to Lowest Levels of the Year

J. I. Case and Vanadium Also Run Up With Shorts Reported Trapped

Wall Street Interested in Whether Tobacco Run-up is Another Tail-end Move

New York, Aug. 1.—Whitney of Wall Street Financial Bureau says to-day: DAILY COMPLETION TO-DAY

The expectation for immediate market action was voiced here yesterday as being for the day to bring forth a rally, and with this part fulfilled, believe it will now pay to consider the balance of the opinion, which was that this rally would not necessarily indicate a turn for radical advance, the reason for the latter qualification being that we are in an "in-between" market where the temporary preponderance of advance news that you can see is preventing the discounting at the moment of the better news that you cannot see.

"What we are being presented with, and what I believe will continue to constitute the discounting element nearest at hand, is mainly the balance of the second quarter reports, as well as the previously mentioned and purely commercial fall-end news of fifteen to thirty months business decline. In so far as the second quarter reports are concerned, think that from now on they will not be quite as good reading as the ones you have already seen, as there is a very normal tendency in such times as those to get the good ones out first and delay somewhat on the ones which are not so good. This means that we will undoubtedly have about fifteen days more of market "which will have to bear the brunt of a continued general business news and second quarter reports, both of the fall-end variety and not such good reading."

"What I believe the market will do while it is going through this phase, is to continue to discount the news of the month, to simply repeat the performance that we have already seen this week, the outstanding characteristic of which is that a bad day in the market stands as an isolated occurrence, with little power to bring on sufficient momentum to extend its effect any further. This in turn, I believe, is simply the reflection of large orders 'at a price' which for the moment do not follow up the market, even though they successfully stop the decline. The reason for the existence of those orders in turn, I believe, is that they represent the conviction that with this mid-August turn will come a complete reversal of the balance of August, all of September and October, and possibly part of November, and political and financial interests are co-ordinating their efforts to render this programme workable, with their first move being to stop the decline in wheat here and now."

"The thing to do, therefore, is simply to continue to wait for weakness to buy sound stock for the higher prices you will get from them if a little patience is exercised."

PARLEY HELD IN VANCOUVER

Vancouver, Aug. 1.—Vancouver members of the provincial legislative assembly were in conference with city aldermen, discussing ways of meeting the relief and unemployment problems of Vancouver.

The city council plans to ask the provincial and federal governments each to bear one-third of the cost of relief in Vancouver and to grant $50,000 each for money expended by the city in relief so far this year. Representatives to the Federal government will be made through provincial authorities.

CHINESE ASK FOREIGNERS' PROTECTION

Shanghai, Aug. 1.—O. T. Meng, Chinese Foreign Minister, was warned by the United States mission at Peking that day the United States Government expected the Nationalist administration to protect lives and property of United States citizens in China. Huang, minister of foreign affairs, said that the United States Government was not to be deceived by the Nationalist administration to protect lives and property of United States citizens in China. PARLIAMENT OF BRITAIN ENDS SESSION

"After three months of deliberation a treaty embodying many important points of agreement in regard to the principles of naval limitation and achieving effective economies in the sphere of naval armaments was signed by representatives of the United States, France, Italy, Japan, and of the governments in the United Kingdom, the Dominions and India.

"In addition the treaty embodies an agreement between my government and those of the United States and Japan fixing for a period the total tonnage limit for certain categories of warships. In this agreement representatives of France and Italy were willing at the time of the signing of the treaty, to participate.

"The conference was accordingly adjourned to give further time for negotiations, and these will, I trust, result in full agreement to no very distant date."

"The King expressed greatest satisfaction 'at the very cordial manner in which Prime Minister MacDonald was received in Ottawa and Washington last October'."

"The King noted the signing of the optional clause of the world court, the establishment of normal diplomatic relations of Soviet Socialist Republics, the exchange of ministers with Argentina, where more settled conditions exist, and the making of the new Anglo-Iraq treaty.

UNEMPLOYMENT RELIEF

The address couched unemployment with the world-wide depression of trade.

"It is encouraging to find that schemes have been designed to provide for the employment of the unemployed public utility of total value of over $100,000,000," the King said.

NEW HOUSING

Indicating his assent would be forthcoming to any measures which might facilitate the manufacture and prevention of slums and the setting up of better housing accommodations, both in urban and rural Britain, the King said.

"It is my earnest hope that these measures will improve the unsatisfactory conditions under which so many of my people dwell."

Bidding farewell to Parliament, the King concluded:

"I pray the blessing of Almighty God may rest upon the work which you have completed."

Mrs. W. P. Johnson, Wife of Nationals' Head, Died To-day

Washington, Aug. 1.—Mrs. Walter P. Johnson, wife of the Third United States Representative E. E. Roberts of Nevada, died early to-day. Johnson was at her bedside when she came at Georgetown Hospital, he having remained here while his team went to New York.

Mrs. Johnson was confined to the hospital a few days ago after driving from Coffeyville, Kansas, during the intense heat. In addition she has suffered from the strain induced by her long vigil at the bedside of Walter R. Johnson, who is one of her three sons, whose legs were broken in an automobile accident last spring.

BENNETT CALLS STEWART OF P.E.I. TO OTTAWA

Regina, Aug. 1.—Control of Saskatchewan's natural resources passed from Ottawa to the province to-day. Premier J. T. M. Anderson, who held the new portfolio, to-day announced appointment of John Bennett as Deputy Minister. Mr. Bennett was former chairman of the Soldiers' Settlement Board, Ottawa.

Housing of the new department is now being arranged by Mr. Bennett, who for the time being will take over all Federal government lands and space. A certain amount of office fittings is being transferred from the federal to the provincial government, and all records of the Saskatchewan and Albert and Moose Jaw offices are transferred to the government as of this date.

The new deputy served with distinction previously in the Great War as major in the 80th Battalion.

MEADOWS GIVEN R-100 HAD NO BUMPS OVER THE ATLANTIC

Destroyer of City Jail Equipment Conducted Own Defence at Trial To-day

Air Conditions Ideal, Say Officers; Bump Near Father Point, Que., Did Damage

Big British Dirigible Collects Rain Water as It Flies For Ballast

By JACK HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
St. Hubert Airport, Montreal, Aug. 1.—"We never had a bump all the way across the Atlantic Ocean, and everything went perfectly until we got to Father Point, Quebec. There we ran into a bad bump and the jar fore the fabric on a stabilizing fin. The damage was temporarily repaired and was negligible."

With these few words, Sir Dennistoun Burney, British director of air-craft development and designer of the rigid R-100, discussed casually today the great adventure of Britain's queen of the skies.

Sir Dennistoun, with Major G. H. Scott, British military director of airship development; Squadron Leader R. S. Booth, captain of the R-100, and Squadron Leader Johnston, navigating officer, gave a joint press conference after the airship had been moored at St. Hubert at 9.30 this morning (1.30 a.m. Victoria time).

The interview was an informal one. The four officers, tired but jubilant, submitted to a barrage of questions.

BIG FUEL MARGIN

There were still five tons of fuel left aboard the ship when she was hooked to the mast here. The most valuable thing learned on the trip was that travel by airship was the most comfortable means of transportation, it was stated. The course taken was the most feasible for commercial use if larger ships should be used.

"It was a very good test of the ship's ability," Sir Dennistoun said. "We ran into one or two thunderstorms, but they were not serious. The ship was built to stand up to a 4,000 feet to get out of it."

"The ship was 3,564 miles from the mooring mast at Cardington, England, when she was hooked to the mast here. The benefit we derived from the trip was experience. We need long flights to gain experience in handling lighter-than-air craft."

"Crossing the Atlantic the ship behaved perfectly. We dodged to get into favorable winds once or twice, but the air was very calm."

"The most impressive thing about the trip was this—on Monday night, I entertained a party at dinner. We left Cardington at 9.30 p.m. and if we had been lucky at the latter end of the trip we would have been here in time for dinner last night."

NEW BALLAST SYSTEM

Major Scott, captain of the first British airship to fly, inventor of the Air Ministry system of airship mooring, and one of the greatest lighter-than-air experts in the world, has invented a system of collecting water for ballast while flying. He mentioned it off-hand following the interview, while chatting with a member of the Canadian Press staff.

He had been questioned regarding ballast. "Oh, when we need more water we collect it on the fly. We did it all the way across," he said.

SUPPLIED BY RAIN

"How?" he was asked.

"Well, we built a sort of a little gutter arrangement along the top of the envelope and collected rain water. The enormous bulk of the ship makes it very easy to pipe the water down, strain it and put it into the tanks. We managed to get three tons that way. It doesn't cost anything to collect water, and it is a real rain-and, of course, there is always lots of rain around the Atlantic."

STATIC REPORTED

Rain is not the only thing the R-100 collects on the "fly," however. Major Scott stated that when the ship was in storm clouds it collected a great deal of static electricity.

When the cable leading from the nose of the ship to the mooring mast was dropped aboard, a powerful jolt may get a severe electrical shock, but the ground crew and those aboard the ship kept away until the wire touched the ground, when the static is drained off instantly.

DIRIGIBLE TRIP NEW EMPIRE LINK, STATES THOMAS

Montreal, Aug. 1.—The successful completion of the flight of the dirigible R-100 to Montreal has resulted in the following cable from R. H. Hadow, British High Commissioner in Canada:

"I cannot let the great opportunity afforded by the voyage of the new airship to Canada go by without taking advantage of it to express my hope that this will be the first of many successful airship voyages, and will be looked back upon as the beginning of a development of much significance to the British Commonwealth of Nations and to the United Kingdom and Canada in particular."

Each improvement in the means of communication provides an additional link between the parts of the Empire concerned. Each increased facility should in its turn help to assist the flow of trade."

BLAMED FOR ERRORS

Blaming the American, Japanese and British for all the mistakes in the country during the last four or five decades, the communists through their paper, the "Daily Worker," are convincing a fair percentage of the untutored Chinese population of the urgent necessity for overthrowing the present government.

This accounts in no small way for the rough treatment missionaries and traders have been subjected to at the hands of the roving bands of communists and bandits the interior provinces as well as the brutality shown government officials who have been unfortunate enough to fall into the hands of the reactionaries.

In most communist papers, General Chiang Kai-shek is being a "running dog" for the foreign "imperialists." He is fighting, they say, at the instigation of the Americans and British while the Japanese are backing the northern rebels.

SASKATCHEWAN TAKES OVER NATURAL RESOURCES CONTROL

Regina, Aug. 1.—Control of Saskatchewan's natural resources passed from Ottawa to the province to-day. Premier J. T. M. Anderson, who held the new portfolio, to-day announced appointment of John Bennett as Deputy Minister. Mr. Bennett was former chairman of the Soldiers' Settlement Board, Ottawa.

Can a Girl
Relax
After Marriage?

Dorothy Dix

Finds
No Rest
Between Altar
and Grave

"While It Is Easy to Catch a Husband, It Is Hard to Hold One, and the Woman Who Does It Has to Be on Her Job All the Time," Declares One Who Has Succeeded — "It's No Cinch"

WHEN I was a girl," said an attractive woman the other day, "I used to look forward to marriage as a sort of Elysium in which I could give up all the work and worry and struggle and trials and tribulations of trying to make myself attractive to men, and just let myself slump the balance of my life."

"But," I would say to myself of a night, as I put my hair up in curlers and rubbed in the cold cream and the skin food, and did my daily dozen, "no more of this torture for me after I am married. Then I am going to eat all the whipped cream and mayonnaise and chocolate creams and gooey desserts that I want, and if I get to be a perfect forty-six it won't make a bit of difference, for I'll have my man."

"And oh, me, and oh, my, won't it be perfectly grand not to have to be always breaking your neck to please some man, and keep him interested and fascinated, and have to be reading up on the subjects he is dotty over and that you don't care a rap about?" I would say to myself as I swallowed a yawn while attempting to hold a thrilled expression while some man monologued to me about the stock market, or the grocery trade, or whatever he was doing. "How restful it will be to be married and have a husband that you don't have to jolly or keep amused and to be able to read the six best sellers because you like 'em, and not something to improve your mind."

"But alas, and slack, I hadn't been married very long before I discovered that my artless and unsophisticated ideas about matrimony were all wet. I also discovered that while it is easy to catch a husband, it is hard to hold one, and the woman who does it has to be on the job all the time, and that there is no place between the altar and the grave in which she can sit down and take it easy and feel that she is safe."

"That settled my delusion that marriage was going to emancipate me from the permanent war and the cosmetic jar. For, you see, one of the reasons that my husband had picked me out as a wife was because I was a good looker, and it was of course on me that if I failed to deliver the goods he might regret his bargain."

"I couldn't see that getting married had afflicted him with any astigmatism that would prevent his taking note of the feminine pulchritude that was always about him, and I had the hunch that if I let myself get fat and flabby and dowdy, and went about looking as if I were in need of a shampoo and a haircut, he could but compare me unfavorably with the snappy little flappers in his office and the lovely ladies he met out in society, and wonder what made him do it."

"So I am still cutting out all the rich food I like to eat and putting on my complexion and oiling myself up when I would like to be lounging around in a kimono, and I have taken up in a serious way woman's eternal problem of how to keep young and beautiful that I will spend the balance of my life trying to solve, because I realize that every wife has competition to meet nowadays, and if she can't do it, she is sunk."

"And I smile when I remember that I once thought that if a woman had put the come hither over a man enough to make him assume her board bill and shopping ticket for life, her work was done and she would never have to make another effort to please him. I soon got wise to the fact that you can't fascinate a man once and let it go at that. It is something that you have to do over again every day, like getting breakfast. He is just as hungry to-day for appreciation and understanding, and to be told that he is the most wonderful thing in the world as if he hadn't been fed on it yesterday."

"Believe me, I don't loiter back and call it a day and knock off the work of trying to keep myself attractive to my husband just because he is married to me and has got to stand me. I don't want any man to stay with me simply because he considers it his duty. I want him to stay because he wants to and because in his eyes all other women run a poor second to me."

"Therefore, I toil overtime at making myself pleasant and agreeable to my husband. If he wants to talk I am there to listen without interrupting him in mid of his best story about how he put over a deal, to ask him if he is sure he put the cat out, or did he know that the baby had cut a tooth. If he wants to go out at night, I am ready to grab my hat and go, no matter if I am tired and would far rather stay at home and rest."

"Nor do I consider it my duty as a wife to tell my husband of all his faults. I leave somebody else to break that bad news to him. Every man has to have some woman to flatter him and glad-hand him, and I am the one who does it in my precinct. And I make my homebrew jelly so strong and so much to his taste, since I have the advantage of knowing just what his little vanities are, that it makes the flatteries of other women seem weak and tasteless to him."

"And I give myself the merry ha-ha because I ever thought that as soon as I got married I could sit down by the wayside and pick daisies, and that when my husband wandered off in his profession he would always come back to me. A little observation showed me the fallacy of this belief. I saw that the ambitious men, the go-getters, do not return to the dull and lazy and purposeless wives they have left behind. They keep going on and they generally link up with some other woman who is traveling their road."

"So I saw that I would either have to keep up with the procession or else be permanently stranded, so I began really to read and study and take courses in this and that, and to play the games my husband played and to keep myself mentally and physically alert and up-to-date. It has taken work and worry and effort, but it has saved me from being a neglected wife."

"Oh, marriage, is a great career for a woman if she doesn't weaken," concluded the woman, "it is no cinch." DOROTHY DIX.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By SISTER MARY

The home-maker who must figure closely to supply a family with nourishing food can find no cheaper and better source of vitamin and mineral content than apples. Cooked or raw, they are a delicious and valuable fruit, and almost any meal and any course can find a place for them.

After thorough washing, apples are one of the best raw foods and can be served without peeling as a breakfast fruit. Washing is necessary for many reasons and should be well done when the fruit is to be served uncooked, or unpeeled. Since the mineral salts lie close under the skin in apples, it is advisable to eat the fruit without peeling. They are particularly good for the teeth, counteracting the effect of the soft modern diet so frequently deplored by dentists.

Baked apples are delicious for breakfast, luncheon or dinner and are very easy to prepare. Even babies under a year old may be given the pulp of plain baked apple. It should be carefully scraped from the skin and rubbed through a fine sieve when given to infants. Grown-ups often think the baked skin of the apple the best part of it. Served plain or with sugar and cream, a perfectly baked apple is always popular.

Apples wanted for making should be perfectly formed, of good size, and firm throughout. They should not be of too fine a texture, for delicately grained fruit is apt to fall apart while baking and be unsatisfactory for serving. Fruit wanted for pie or sauce should be tart and well flavored and of a smooth, fine texture. This insures quick cooking and a delicious flavor. Bruised spots on apples will become hard and tough when cooked and should be cut away.

More sunshine and less rain summarizes Victoria's weather record for the month of July.

Sunshine, which totaled 364 hours and 12 minutes, was twenty-four hours and 12 minutes above the average and nearly sixteen hours more than that enjoyed last July. The daily average was just under twelve hours.

Only the mildest of precipitation marked the month, the total downfall amounting to .03 inches, which is .37 inches below average.

Temperatures for the month, as recorded at the Gonzales Observatory, give an indication of Victoria's mild summer weather, the mean being 59 degrees, one below average. The highest recording of the mercury was 87 degrees on July 12, and the lowest 49 on July 3.

Victoria is over two inches below its average rainfall for the first seven months of the year. F. M. Denison, superintendent at the Observatory, pointed out. The total so far is 10.74 inches, compared with the average of 12.87 inches.

Generally fair and hot weather prevails through B.C. at the present time.

156-YEAR-OLD TURK PLEASED WITH HIS RECEPTION IN U.S.

Zaro Agha Unmoved by Sights of Modern Marvels, But He Gets a Kick Out of Fuss Being Made Over Him

By GENE COHN
New York, Aug. 1.—Zaro Agha is thankful to Allah that he waited 156 years before visiting America.

The Turkish Methuselah, who says he has watched Time on the march from the Napoleonic era to the jazz and machine age, fears that the bustle and hustle to which he has already been introduced might have taken ten years from his life.

You see, when Zaro got along about 110 he decided he'd done enough work for one lifetime, and sat back to take it easy as door-keeper of a Stamboul public building.

And, suddenly, before he could realize what was happening to him, some enterprising fellow-countrymen who had been in touch with American ship-and-go, told him of all the money he could lay up for his old age if he just went over the seas for a few months.

WILL MAKE MONEY
Now Zaro never had been bothered by money, or any other worry-creator, and it wasn't altogether the clink of gold that caused him to leave home.

For instance, there was the matter of his teeth. He'd worn out three sets of them in his lifetime and wanted to get some good store teeth. Then they told him about the scientific advances made over here. Famous medical geniuses would certainly be interested in him and—who knows?—he might be rejuvenated.

That latest wife of his was getting modern notions. Things weren't what they used to be over in Stamboul. Time was when women knew their place and stayed there. That was before veils had been removed and before they turned the Sultan's harem into a museum.

And, oh, boy, is he having fun! With wife back in dear old Turkey and with attentions showered upon him from every direction—no wonder Zaro feels that life is just starting for him!

"I wouldn't care if I only lived fifty years or so longer," he admits through his ever-present interpreter. "Of course, I could have taken it easy at home. It's worth sacrificing a few years to see the rest of the world."

Nothing much has happened to the old fellow since the days he fought against Napoleon in the Egyptian campaign. To be sure he's married eleven times and had about a hundred children, but that's just home routine where he comes from. And being a good Mohammedan, he's stayed non-alcoholic and watched his diet, but that was a matter of religion rather than virtue.

Look at him now—scientific mind, attired by laboratory curiosity, are inclined to take him at his word and accept his birth record as plausible, while making him an outstanding specimen.

Like persons young and old, Zaro has never outgrown the fondness for attention. And he gets nothing but pump-scientists, press agents with blimp-brunettes to suit his fancy, talking picture makers, stage managers and circus managers, pretty maids who want a look at him and servants who wait upon his beck and call.

After 156 years Zaro Agha is quite a guy! They let him know it. And he "eats it up."

Of course the gent who could easily have sent birthday greetings to George Washington and Fannie Ward doesn't realize that it is all part of the Roman holiday which Manhattan is staging. He doesn't appreciate that those delicate about brunettes are also eager to get their names and pictures in the newspapers. That almost everyone, for

ZARO AGHA, FIGHTER AGAINST NAPOLEON'S ARMY IN 1799

When Zaro Agha, visiting Turkish Methuselah who puts his age at 156, spoke of being interested in pump and pretty brunettes, Anna Fitzu, the comedy opera star, came up to call at his New York hotel. Just a friendly call—no matrimony intended.

That matter, has "an ace in the hole." Zaro, himself, has never been identified with cold business matters. A plausible, good-natured, easy-going old fellow, who can lift a 250 pound fellow being without effort, each of his claimed 156 years is likely to become worth $100 to him and to others.

For instance, during the 21-day cruise to Manhattan's shores, a biographical chart of his life was made. This will be put into a book. Fancy prices are to be secured for his appearance before clinics and medical experts and there are said to be at least half a dozen bids for his services as the oldest living specimen obtainable.

They're after him for radio broadcasts and various cities have Chambers of Commerce ready to bid for his appearance.

There are a dozen and one possibilities of income ahead of him, but his managers insist that he will not be allowed to engage in any undignified enterprise, such as exhibiting himself in a side show—although several bids have come in.

As for his contrast of things, past and present, Zaro wouldn't exchange all the ten sultans he has seen come and go for the privilege of living in the present. He doesn't want the world to think that he's one of those old fogies who cling to ancient ideas and can't change his ways and ideas.

NOTHING SURPRISES HIM
He does believe that women are getting a pedestal somewhat higher than they deserve and he thinks this will lead to much trouble—in fact is causing too much thought at the moment. It isn't going to bother him, however. He feels that as long as Turkey is Turkey the man will be master and will hold the check reins.

And he has lived too long to be surprised by anything. He has seen men in times of slaughter and in times of tolerance; he knows camel-days and machine-days alike. So he is not his shoulders at an airplane, a skyscraper and an X-ray.

"Take it as it comes," he advises. "Bull and all, the average man who meets the undertaker in his coffin has stored up a weightier background than this Methuselah for all his years. Never having bothered about things much, Zaro didn't take the trouble to learn to read or write. He knows largely what he has experienced or what he has heard about."

In those translated recollections presented by his interpreters, the Napoleonic episode appears to be a highlight.

But even as these are told—even as all the stories about him are told—even as the interviewers ask him about women and food and sleep—the voices of whistles behind his back chatter with unbelief.

"He isn't any hundred and fifty-six," the voices murmur.

"Westerners ask each other and the scientist say, 'Interesting if true.'"

Well he has a birth record—and it's Zaro's story and he's going to stick to it for another hundred years if necessary.

DEEP EMOTION IN EPIC WAR PICTURE BY E. M. REMARQUE

A pageant of terrible splendor . . . a drama of deep human emotions . . . a terrific indictment of modern war . . . that is "All Quiet on the Western Front." Universal's superb super-production of Erich Maria Remarque's famous war book, which came to the screen of the Capitol Theatre yesterday for a nine-day showing.

The story of "All Quiet" is based on the experiences and observations of Remarque who went to the front as a schoolboy. Every character is authentic. Critics have proclaimed the grim realism of the book the secret of its record-breaking success and it is this powerful appeal that Universal has brought to the screen.

In his own words Remarque wrote "All Quiet" to free himself from the memory of the war. It was only after he had completed the novel that he tried to sell it. He wrote simply setting down the story of his own experiences—without glamour or heroics. And his book became the best seller of the last ten years.

ALL MALE CAST IN WAR PICTURE
AT THE PLAYHOUSE

The perfect picture that theatre fans have been waiting for is here. It is "Journey's End," now showing at the Playhouse Theatre, with drama so powerful that it takes one's heart out to bits and gives it back with an understanding of this human clay called "man" that one never had before and will never forget or regret.

"Journey's End" without a woman in it, yet fraught with the romance of adventure, daring, death; crammed to overflowing with man's love for man, for peace, for home—spectacular, not in the way of stupendous sets, but in the splendid deeds done by splendid men!

DINTY MOORE'S
CORN BEEF AND-- IS PADLOCKED

New York, Aug. 1.—For the most amusing predicament of the month, there is the case of "Dinty" Moore.

Dinty has been a corned-beef-and-cabbage maestro in the mid-Porties for many a year, but a number of his theatrical patrons demanded more than mustard with their meals. Wherefore Dinty was continuously getting into arguments with the revenue oficers.

The other day they finally hung a padlock on his cafe. Which, by itself, is nothing to write about in New York. But it so happened that Dinty's living quarters are just over his cafe and when the doors of his place were locked and guarded he couldn't go home, since the outer doorways of the restaurant also led to his domicile.

And, according to the court ruling, he could not enter his former business place, nor could anyone else who didn't have a key to the government padlock.

A solution has finally been reached, and most odd it is. A wooden grill affair has been constructed at a side door and a passageway is arranged by which Dinty can go upstairs to his living quarters, while keeping the cafe completely blocked off.

BICYCLING MAY RETURN
Bicycling threatens to return to vogue this summer. Not only are good old-fashioned bikes to be observed preening their colors in the windows of the biggest Manhattan stores, but cyclists are to be seen afternoons pedaling through the Central Park pathways.

Of Sundays, so the scouts report, the country roads hereabouts are beholding vacationers, pumping away at pedals instead of motoring, while the swanky beach resorts tell of fashionable maids who arrive at the shore on bikes.

If the fad catches on, here at last will be a vogue that gives me a break. For when last I mounted a sturdy tandem, I could do such tricks as riding on one pedal, balancing on one wheel and "standing still."

However, my legs have grown a few feet longer since those days.

Notes on this and that . . . Marie Dressler refers to those Carrolleque shows as "navel pageants." . . . Richard Byrne's South Pole film indicates how much more thrilling true life experiences can be than all the manufactured thrills of Hollywood, though I agree with most of Manhattan's critics that the picture could have done very nicely without the hoarse recitation of Floyd Gibbons.

Time, the Broadway domo of "Variety," the theatrical magazine, after a few months in Hollywood, sends this message back to its main stem brigade: "Stay Out of Hollywood, unless you have a contract." Well, time hasn't been around Broadway lately. But that street isn't so hot just now, either, unless you're prepared for what Wall Street calls "a long pull."

Time, by the way is credited with being one of Manhattan's best "pocket writers." . . . He carries a pad of paper in his right hand coat pocket. He also carries a number of pencil stumps. . . . After years of practice he is able to make copious notes while seeming to be doing nothing more than jiggling a few pennies in his pocket. . . . This bit of dexterity has enabled him to jot down many an item without being caught at it.

Manhattan speakies are no respecters of neighborhoods. . . . With a stone's throw of J. Pierpont Morgan's elegantly aristocratic old Murray Hill Mansie is a block so thickly populated with whisperers that some landlords have found the rental problem a difficult one. . . . While racketeers, just the other night, struck at a club that sits in neighborhood relationship to John D. Rockefeller's famous mansion in the Fifth, some New York's moonstruck property now has reason to suspect the brownstone or the iron grided basement just a few doors away.

FRESH-CURD
SALT
SPRING
BUTTER 40¢

Nick Stuart and his wife Sue Carol are now entertaining in their own home—and if it was Buckingham Palace they couldn't be any prouder. After paying high rents for a good many months, they decided to buy their own home a couple of months ago. Then came the real job, furnishing it. Instead of calling in an interior decorator, they decided to do the job themselves—which they did, a piece at a time. One day a new chair would make its appearance, the next a rug, and so on and so on.

Buddy Rogers has been lost to motion picture fans forever—and in his place allowed to engage in any undignified enterprise, such as exhibiting himself in a side show—although several bids have come in.

As for his contrast of things, past and present, Zaro wouldn't exchange all the ten sultans he has seen come and go for the privilege of living in the present. He doesn't want the world to think that he's one of those old fogies who cling to ancient ideas and can't change his ways and ideas.

In those translated recollections presented by his interpreters, the Napoleonic episode appears to be a highlight.

But even as these are told—even as all the stories about him are told—even as the interviewers ask him about women and food and sleep—the voices of whistles behind his back chatter with unbelief.

O. HENRY STORY WITH G. COOPER AT DOMINION THEATRE

What one of the best beloved of United States authors put into words, Paramount, with Gary Cooper in the leading role, has put into a lifelike, talking picture, "The Texan," which opened a three day run at the Dominion Theatre last night, in the second of the spectacular outdoor, talking epics which Paramount initiated with "The Virginian."

"The Texan" comes in at a gallop and gallops his way straight into the heart of the audience. He's gay, droll, swagging, the same Cooper who won hearts in "Wolf Song," "Seven Days Leave," "Legion of the Condemned," and, more recently and particularly, "The Virginian." Here he makes love to beautiful Fay Wray, who is dervising as a South American senorita.

Spectacular and beautiful scenes form a background for the ever thrilling action of "The Texan." The wind-swept plains of Texas change to the rolling pampas of South America, where in an effort to rob a wealthy widow, the bandit Cooper goes as the lumbering son. Instead of robbing the widow, however, he stays to love and woo her niece. And his thrilling fight to make good his regeneration makes the rousing climax.

VILMA BANKY IS LEADING LADY IN COLISEUM FEATURE

Doing in the sunlight is all right, if it's real sunlight!

There is a scene in Vilma Banky's "A Lady of Love," an M-G-M all-talking picture now at the Coliseum Theatre, in which Lloyd Ingraham is supposed to sleep peacefully in a lovely garden while the action goes on around him.

"But, it got too hot!" complained Ingraham. You see, the rays of the sun are diffused, but when a man sits immobile under the concentrated rays of several big movie searchlights, the temperature increases very definitely at the spot of centralization, which in this case happened to be the Ingraham neck!

PICTURE OF SEA WITH GOOD CAST PLAYS THIS WEEK

Ocean liners sailing to and from San Pedro, California, were frequently "hove to" off the Point Fermin light-house during the filming of "Undertow," Universal all-sound feature starring Mary Nolan, which is now being shown at the Columbia Theatre, so that the passengers could watch the Mary Nolan company on location making pictures. Sometimes as many as three or four liners, their decks lined with passengers watching through glasses, would be as close to the light as they dared while the exterior scenes were being shot. John Mack Brown was being shot, with Robert Ellis in support.
